Childhood Cancer Foundation of Southern California received a special donation from a teen Friday, June 7.

Jocelyne Montoya, 15, of Hemet, arrived to Childhood Cancer Foundation headquarters in Loma Linda with a gift of $552. Jocelyne recently celebrated her 15th birthday with a traditional quinceañera, and in lieu of gifts for herself, she asked guests to make a donation to Childhood Cancer Foundation.

"I heard about Childhood Cancer Foundation through a close friend of mine who has been helped by this organization," Jocelyne said. "I wanted to help others, so I decided to have guests donate. God has given me many gifts. He has given me the gift of life, health, family and friends; which is everything I need. The greatest gift that we as people can give is not a materialistic one, but the gift of hope."

CCFSC relies on donations from individuals, businesses, organizations and clubs in the community to continue to provide assistance and support to the children and their families.

Childhood Cancer Foundation of Southern California serves children with cancer and their families throughout Southern California.
